

586. The Greatest of These is Love

Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not love,

I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.

And though I have the gift of prophecy,
and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains;

And have not love, I am nothing.

And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned,

And have not love, it profiteth me
nothing.

Love suffereth long, and is kind;

Love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.

Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked,
thinketh no evil;

Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth.

Beareth all things, believeth all things,

Hopeth all things, endureth all things.

Love never faileth;

But whether there be prophecies,
they shall fail;

Whether there be tongues, they shall
cease;

Whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

For we know in part, and we prophesy
in part.

But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.

For now we see through a glass, darkly;

But then face to face.

Now I know in part;

But then shall I know even as also
I am known.

And now abideth faith, hope, love,
these three;

But the greatest of these is love.

Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God,

And he who loves is born of God
and knows God.

He who does not love does not know
God; for God is love.

In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only son into the world, so that we might live through him.

In this is love, not that we loved God
but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the expiation for our sins.

Beloved, if God so loved us, we also ought to love one another.

If we love one another, God abides in us and his love is perfected in us.

God is love, and he who abides in love abides in God, and God abides
in him.
